

To whom it may concern:

I am writing to enthusiastically recommend Milosh as a User Experience Designer. I had the privilege of working closely with Milosh during our time at Transamerica, and I have consistently been impressed by his exceptional skills, dedication, and collaborative spirit. Milosh was always willing to go above and beyond for the team, consistently offering his time and energy to collaborate with colleagues, ready to lend a helping hand or provide valuable insights.

One of his standout qualities is his proactiveness in generating design artifacts to assist stakeholders and fellow designers when working through complex problems. This collaborative approach not only boosted team productivity but also fostered a positive and innovative work environment.

Milosh's dedication and meticulous attention to detail greatly impacted our organization, leaving our stakeholders with a highly favorable impression of our UX function. His ability to empathize with users and design solutions that catered to diverse user needs, including accessibility considerations and various user roles, truly set him apart. His designs consistently reflected a deep understanding of user experience best practices, and his work significantly improved our products' usability and accessibility.

In summary, I have no doubt that Milosh would be a valuable asset to any team or organization seeking a skilled and collaborative UX Designer. His ability to generate innovative solutions, dedication to teamwork, and user-centric approach make him an outstanding candidate. I wholeheartedly recommend Milosh and have no doubt that he will continue to excel in his UX design endeavors.

Sincerely,

Cameron Davis

Lead User Experience Designer at Transamerica

cameron.davis@transamerica.com